New format a big winner for Oilmen's Golf

Two-man scramble increases attendance by almost 50 per cent

Elk Point Oilmen's Association's decision to change up their annual Oilmen's Golf Tournament proved to be a huge success, with participation up close to 50 per cent from recent years, and a massive burst of enthusiastic applause answered Oilmen's president Ryan Hahn when he asked the crowd at the windup banquet, "Who had fun today?"

"It's been the same for 32 years, and it was time for a change," Hahn said of the switch to a two-man scramble from the original format, noting that participation climbed from 80 golfers last year to 116 this year, with a waiting list that prompted the organizers to agree that "Next year, we're planning for 124."

Even the banquet venue was changed, moving from the A. G. Ross Arena to the Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre, where the Oilmen also hold their annual bonspiel banquet.

This year's Oilman of the Year, Danny 'Poky' Povaschuk, applauded the change and added special thanks to the greens crew for an outstanding job. "A lot of work goes into it; before and after as well as during the tournament."

Hahn said that although money this year has been tight, the event had "lots of sponsors" and the committee did "an awesome job," as did his mother, who helped out by doing all the paperwork for the tournament.

Profits from this year's tournament are going toward building new steps and a new wheelchair ramp at the golf course clubhouse, Hahn announced.

Movie nights part of end-of-summer FCSS program

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

What has been a very busy summer for County of St. Paul and Elk Point FCSS is winding down this week, with four more events on the schedule.

With eight well-attended outdoor Movie Nights already entertaining local families, the last two shows on the schedule will go on Thursday night at Boscombe, featuring 'Cars', and Friday night in Mallaig, with the hilarious 'Inside Out.'

The final Science Drop-In day takes place this afternoon in Elk Point's Municipal Library.

The summer will definitely end with a splash at this week's End of Summer Family Fun Days, two of them at local beaches. The first of these was to be held yesterday at Westcove and on Wednesday, the action moves to Floating Stone for a 1 p.m. beach party. Thursday night the fun winds up with a Glow Party beginning at 8 p.m. at the Lac Bellevue.

Wagon train stops in to visit

KEN GWOZDZ
Review Contributor

Mayor Parrish Tung and local resident Henry Botting were on hand at the Elk Point staging area to greet a Wagon Train that stopped in Elk Point on Wednesday Aug. 17. There were four wagons in the group, each hitched to a team of horses ranging in size and age, along with 10 to 12 teamsters and passengers who came from Didsbury, Sundre, Manitoba and central and northern Alberta to take part in the ride.

Angie Baker, who lives along the trail east of Elk Point, baked two blueberry pies for the men on the wagon train and called the Town office to report that a wagon train was coming along the Iron Horse Trail.

The wagon train started in Heinsburg and was headed for Ashmont, via the Iron Horse Trail.

A vast array of door prizes, ranging from ball caps to a patio heater and an air compressor, were handed out early in the evening, with several major prizes saved for a midnight draw.

Congratulations to the Elk Point Oilmen's Association on another great tournament!

...And the art was amazing

We neglected to mention it in last week's Elk Point Craft and Horticulture Show coverage, but yes, there definitely was an art show on the A. G. Ross Arena premises as well.

Once again, Shirley Kinneberg rallied a group of local authors, including Donna Chamberland, Kathy Gusnowski and Linda Hymanyk, to display their talents and her own at the show, and their work drew plenty of attention and compliments from fairgoers.

The art community is alive and well in Elk Point, and it was also good to see information displayed on a number of art courses that are coming up in the fall. It's a good chance for those who have already established their talents to try new mediums on for size, and for those who had always wanted to try painting to get out and explore their potential.

With the upcoming courses on the horizon, the Craft and Horticulture Show organizers just may have to allot more room to display this facet of the community's talents.

Drilling increases across Alberta under new royalty system

MARGARET MCCUAIG-BOYD
Minister of Energy for Alberta

As a rural MLA who lives in a small northern community I have been surrounded by the energy industry my whole life. I have friends, family and neighbours who have worked and benefited from this important sector.

I know these are not easy times for the energy sector and communities and families are hurting in many ways. We cannot control the global price for our resources but can control our own actions and policies.

It is with this in mind that we introduced new changes to our royalty system that would help our oil industry prosper. Dozens of new oil and gas wells are now being drilled across Alberta, creating jobs in rural communities and regional centres, after our government made a decision to open up our new royalty system early.

Since we started reviewing our royalty system I have said we would listen to industry and there would be no surprises. We pledged to create a royalty system would work for all of us; to create the fair returns Albertans want while allowing companies to remain competitive and to create jobs.

I believe we have accomplished that goal and this summer wells in Alberta have started drilling under our new modernized royalty framework. The first ones began drilling in mid-August in Grande Prairie County and others are moving towards operation in several other parts of the province.

Our new framework is not scheduled to take effect until next year, but when industry told us they were willing to increase their investments in Alberta this year if they could access the new system — we responded. These new wells represent investment in our province beyond what was originally planned for 2016.

Way Back When...

Oilmen's golf, oilsands project, overabundance of dogs

Here's the news that made the headlines of the Lakeland Review and Elk Point Review for the week of Aug. 23 in...

1986

Ed Soldan was named champion at the third annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament, with the previous year's winner, Jim Baylis, placing second in the championship round. Pan Canadian Petroleum had been granted ERCB approval for a three-phase commercial oil sands project in the Elk Point area, but it was considered likely that major expenditure on the project would be deferred until at least 1989 due to the depressed oil market.

1991

Ed Soldan won a tiebreaker against Oilmen's Association tiebreaker to take the championship in the Eighth Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament, with 112 golfers taking part. Tanya Kenyon won two silver medals at the Alberta Summer Games in Stettler, placing second in barrel racing and pole bending.

1996

Pat Nairn shot a two round total of 114 to win the 13th Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament. Elk Point ratepayers were not complaining about picking up the tab for half of the Elk Point but Mayor Ed Buck was hoping adjoining jurisdictions would sign agreements allowing the service to answer calls in their areas and in turn, helping the town and the County of St. Paul with the cost.

2001

Minister of Economic Development Mark Norris was "overwhelmed" by his tour of the area, which included meetings with Mayor Ed Buck and chamber of commerce president Eugene Buck, and a tour down the Iron Horse Trail to Heinsburg. Tom Parenteau was named the 2001 Elk Point Oilmen's Golf champion for the second time in three years.

2006

Troy Lorenson was named champion at the 23rd Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament after a great weekend of golf action. Midsummer complaints regarding an overabundance of dogs, untidy premises and noisy parties were on the agenda for town council.

2011

Dayle Oster was among the local riders who demonstrated their horsemanship skills at the first 4-H rodeo held in Elk Point. The 28th Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament championship flight went to Norm Quinney III, who also won the title in 2008, who was joined in the winners' circle by First Flight winner Darren Christensen, Second Flight winner Mike Tilley, Third Flight winner Chad Colbourne, Fourth Flight winner Kevin Rudell, Fifth Flight winner Dion Pilkington and Sixth Flight winner Jacques DeMoissac.

Drilling

I was pleased to tour an Encana rig on August 17 and meet crew members from across Alberta working there. Each operating drilling rig can create 135 direct and in-direct jobs according to figures from the Canadian Oilwell Drilling Contractors Association.

I was joined on the tour by a representative from the Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers (CAPP) who said our new royalty framework will help industry stay competitive.

"The modernized royalty framework is a long-term solution that promotes a stable investment environment for continued growth in the sector. It is both flexible to short term market conditions and for long term planning. When Alberta's oil and natural gas industry is healthy and can compete – that's good for Alberta's economy, that's good for government revenues and that's good for Alberta families, said Brad Herald, VP Western Canada Operations with CAPP.

Our government will continue to advocate for sustainable and environmentally responsible energy development in our province. We are demonstrating to the business community and the world beyond our borders that Alberta is open for energy investment and we are a responsible and competitive energy supplier.

With this kind of positive initial response to our early opt-in for the new framework, I'm confident we will continue to see activity in 2017, helping bring jobs and opportunities to communities across Alberta, big and small.

FINE ART AND FABRIC ART, as well as creations by soap and jewelry makers and whimsical creations by a welder who recycles outdated propane tanks all were part of Elk Point Agricultural Society's Craft and Horticulture Show.

FCSS

The summer also included a pair of Amazing Races, held in St. Paul and Elk Point, that were definitely amazing, summer programs for children in Mallaig and Ashmont, babysitting and Home Alone courses in Mallaig. The FCSS partnered with Camp Sunshine and Ashmont Library in other events for the youngsters.

Adults enjoyed hugely successful Ipad courses and a garden tour with 52 participants. Seniors have already marked their calendars for the November 22 Seniors' Festival.

Moving on to football season!

Dustyn Pankiw selected as an Alberta Top 40 prospect

BASSETT
Review Sports

It's safe to say that it wasn't much of a break for some of the boys of summer, who went right from baseball to football. Or maybe I should say, not much of a break for the parents who have to drive them. This is the junior football team in St Paul. The boys are all to young to drive, but never too young to play the rugged game of football.

Practice started for the Bengals in St. Paul this last few weeks. Every day, the boys will be grinding it out in the heat for a few hours, getting into shape. Seems too early to start practicing for football, but I guess the summer is almost over and school starts in less than 10 days. NO!

The Oilmen's Golf Tournament was a lot of fun this past weekend, although I will never understand why some of them, my son in law Chad included, could play every day if their wives let them!! A lot more golfers showed up this year and that's great when you consider the state of the oil economy. A huge thanks to the two fine gentlemen who won the first flight and donated their winnings of $400 back to minor hockey, Troy Lorenson and his partner Lyndsey Hall, the son of, believe it or not, hall of fame goalie Glenn Hall who played with the Chicago Blackhawks back in the 1960s and 70s. And for you guys who aren't old enough to see him play, all I can say is this... man, was he great! They named the arena in Stony Plain after him. Our ball teams have played there many times, the ball diamonds are right beside the arena and they use the same parking lot.

Some more great news this past week: one of our Bantam Sox ball players, Dustyn 'Dust Pan' Pankiw, after making the Zone 7 Summer Games team, has been selected by Alberta Amateur Baseball as one of the top 40 prospects in Alberta and has been invited to attend their top 40 camp being held in Calgary from Sept. 9 to 11. The camp includes hotel rooms, two dinners with guest speakers, nutritionist and Tigers scouting and sports psychologist and Chris Rietsma, practices and scrimmages.

The Top 40 travel to Arizona next February and March. Then they are in Montana, Idaho and Washington state in June. Final selections are to be made at the end of June 2017.I know this guy really well and he is going to make us all very proud!

And now for the K.A Campbell quote of the week, "I could never be a manager. All I have is natural ability."
